Speaker 1: When it comes to drug crimes you can have offenses, where I represent individuals charged with simple possession all the way up to distribution of different types of narcotics offenses. Simple possession offenses are normally going to be handled in state court and require an extensive knowledge of state criminal law and its procedures. Federal laws are going to involve much larger scale type of drug cases- conspiracy to distribute drugs, conspiracies to manufacture drugs. Possession of large quantities of drugs are going to be dealt with in federal court and again requires an entirely separate knowledge of federal law and criminal procedure in regard to those types of offenses.

I have represented individuals with charges all across the spectrum, state and federal courts, simple possession to large scale drugs distribution rings.
